U.S. Senators Still Hopeful Of Adjournment

Senator Morse, Tough Legislation Are Blocking Path

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators today continued their slow push toward adjournment, but in the path lay a host of tough legislation and the stubbornness of Wayne Morse.

Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) has been dipping into his store of legislative know-how to toss parliamentary obstacles in the way of Senate leaders trying to close down shop by next Saturday.

On Labor Day, for example, Morse, angry that the Senate is scheduling work on a holiday, plans to read a three-volume history on labor to his colleagues.

But Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas intends to meet the Sept. 12 target date by keeping the Senate in long sessions. He let the tired legislators go home Friday night only after a working day that stretched over almost 14 hours.

At that time the sharply divided Senate was working on proposals to dispose of billions of dollars worth of government-held farm surpluses. It resumes work on the proposals today.

Although the legislators worked under limited debate, fiery oratory and a series of roll-call votes still left a pile of amendments to be considered.

When the farm surplus program is out of the way, the Senate still must consider such legislation as the foreign aid appropriation, the gasoline tax increase, the increase in interest rates on government bonds, a new public works bill, and, perhaps, another housing bill.

The antagonism between Morse and Johnson over adjournment appears to be growing sharper.

Morse was off the floor when Johnson obtained unanimous consent of the Senate to consider overriding the housing veto.

Schedules for School Bus Drivers Set

Approximately 850 rural pupils, an increase of 200 in the last four years, will be transported to Salem schools by eight school bus drivers when the new fall term opens Wednesday.

Each driver will make two trips: the first trip, beginning about 7:40 a. m., will transport only Junior and Senior High School pupils, and the second trip, beginning about 8:10 a. m., will carry students to the elementary schools.

The time schedule will be adjusted after the first few days of school. Parents having any questions concerning the bus schedules may call Deane Phillips at ED 7-9831 in the office of pupil accounting in the Salem Senior High School.

In the interest of safety, children living in congested or hazardous areas will be asked by the driver to collect at one bus stop, Mr. Phillips said.

Names of driver's and their routes are: Frank Cook, first trip, Chestnut Grove Road, Lisbon Road, Township Road, Pidgeon Road to New Garden Road; second trip, Damascus Road.

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED—The political portion of his European tour behind him, President Eisenhower waves from his plane on departure from Paris for Culzean Castle, Scotland. There, he will relax for two or three days before returning to Washington.

Eisenhower's Message to DeGaulle Cites Hospitality, Understanding

Housing Veto Stirs Problems

Democrats May Abandon Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats weighed today the two-edged political effects of abandoning housing legislation in the face of sustained presidential vetoes.

Republicans, who furnished 27 of the 36 Senate votes which Friday upheld President Eisenhower's latest veto, plugged for action on a new bill. They were aware as the Democrats of the possible political reaction to a slowdown in housing.

Chairman A. Willis Robertson (D-Va.) called the Senate Banking Committee to debate the matter. Robertson said he is confident of committee approval of a bill acceptable to Eisenhower.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), chairman of a housing subcommittee, announced he was recommending no further action in this session. Sparkman said he is willing to "let the country see what it would be like to be without a housing program for a few months."

Sen. Prescott Bush (R - Conn.) led the fight by which the veto was sustained on a 58-36 vote — five short of the two-thirds needed to override. Bush said he thinks the Democrats will come around when they cool off.

"I don't think they can take the responsibility for not having a bill," he said in an interview. Eisenhower said in his veto message there is still time for Congress to enact a sound housing bill. Leaders are trying to adjourn next Saturday. The President complained that although the rejected measure was pared down from one he vetoed in July it still "goes too far."

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, the Republican national chairman, said he is convinced the country is behind Eisenhower in his efforts to curb the expansion of costly government programs.

One of Eisenhower's principal objectives in visiting Europe was to bring France into closer cooperation with other Atlantic Alliance nations.

With Robinson was another old golfing friend, W. Alton Jones, chairman of the board of Cities Service.

Eisenhower arrived Friday from Paris saying he was tempted to catch up on his sleep rather than play golf. But the lure of the game was too much and he got in 18 holes during the afternoon.

Later the President made public two messages he had sent to French President Charles de Gaulle. They expressed thanks for France's hospitality and conviction that "common understanding had been advanced" as a result of their talks.

President Plays Second Round Of Golf

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP) — President Eisenhower today began another round of golf topping his first drive into the rough.

"My, my," he sighed, as he smilingly shook his head.

The President followed two other players who did the same thing.

Standing on the first tee of the Turnberry course where he played Friday, Eisenhower joked with his partners and a group of about 20 spectators and policemen.

The President is relaxing in Scotland until Monday after his nine-day mission of consultations with West European leaders on the eve of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's visit to the United States.

The sun was shining brightly as the foursome went to the tee. "We'll play for a bob a side," said the President. A bob means a shilling—which is 14 cents.

The President was teamed again with Turnberry's Club professional, Ian Marchbank.

Playing against them were U.S. Ambassador to Britain John Hay Whitney and William E. Robinson, chairman of the board of Coca Cola.

Robinson, an old golfing friend of the President, arrived at Culzean Castle this morning. He had flown in from New York.

Tremor Is Felt In Yellowstone

STACK OF DISHES IN CAFETERIA BROKEN

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — A tremor described as the strongest since the Aug. 17 earthquake was felt near the center of Yellowstone National Park this morning.

At Canyon, a resort a few miles north of Yellowstone Lake, the tremor at about 5 a. m. awakened Labor Day weekenders and broke a stack of dishes in a cafeteria.

General Manager Col. Joseph E. Primeau, a retired Air Force officer, said the quake was the strongest since the big earthquakes that tore western Montana three weeks ago.

But at Mammoth, in the northern edge of the park, a park ranger told The Associated Press he was not awakened by the tremor.

The 5 a. m. jolt at Canyon was preceded by milder shocks at about 3 a. m. and 4 a. m.

Canyon is one of the newest resorts in the park by virtue of a modernization program under the National Park Service mission 66 program.

Five Children Found Dead of Gas In Home

TOWNSEND, Wis. (AP) — Five children, ranging in age from one to 10 years, were found dead and their mother in critical condition Friday night in their one-room cottage in this northeastern Wisconsin community. They apparently died from gas poisoning.

Mrs. Gloria Rovge, 32, Milwaukee, the mother of the children, was in critical condition at a Laona hospital.

The children were identified as Kathy, 10; Chris, 7; Cindy, 5; Kenny, 3; and Caroline, 1.

The bodies were found at about 11 p. m. when Mrs. Kenneth Posselt of Townsend, and a baby sister, Sandy Sackett, called at the Rovge cottage on McCauslin Brook, seven miles northwest of here in Oconto County. Mrs. Posselt, a family friend, was to drive Mrs. Rovge to Townsend to join her husband, John, 44, who was driving up from Milwaukee to spend the weekend with his family.

Special Meeting Of U.N. Expected

Ike Refuses To Comment On Laotian Issue

President Voices Concern Over Asian Conflict Problems

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP) — President Eisenhower is concerned about the situation in Laos where Communists are threatening the pro-Western royal government.

But the President refuses to comment on whether the United Nations should provide troops to meet the Red threat.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told a news conference today that the vacationing Eisenhower is getting regular reports on Laos.

"The President is keeping in close touch with the situation in Laos and it is a matter of concern to him," Hagerty said.

Hagerty declined to give any details on the nature of the reports to the President. He also refused to comment on the request to the U.N. for military support.

Asked whether the U.S. National Security Council might be called into a special session to consider the situation in Laos, Hagerty replied:

"I have nothing more to say." Laos accused neighboring Communist North Viet Nam of helping the rebels and appealed to the United Nations to send "in the shortest possible time an emergency force in order to stop the aggression and prevent it from spreading."

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld is hurrying back from a visit to Brazil to consider the Laos' appeal with the possibility of calling an emergency meeting of the Security Council on Monday.

Eisenhower, who is taking a weekend rest in Scotland from his arduous diplomatic mission to Western Europe, is due to return to Washington on Monday.

But the President is enjoying his golf in Scotland and may stay a day longer.

27 Auto Deaths Seen In Ohio

6 Killed In Traffic As Weekend Begins

By The Associated Press. At least six persons have already died on Ohio's highways with the long Labor Day weekend hardly under way.

Safety officials have predicted that at least 27 persons will die in traffic smashups on the state's roads before the holiday is concluded at midnight Monday.

The Associated Press' survey of accidental deaths began at 6 p. m. Friday.

The first reported traffic death was that of Byron D. Paterling, 22, of Brookville, near Dayton. He was killed when his motorcycle collided with an automobile Friday night.

Three persons were killed early Saturday in an automobile collision on Ohio 2, about six miles northeast of Hockley in Defiance County, which is about three miles east of the Indiana line. The dead are John L. Davis, 33, of Kokomo, Ind., driver of one of the cars; his passenger, William O'Neil, 32, of Toledo; and Joseph L. Perkins, 41, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., driver of another car involved.

Another accident early Saturday took the life of a Findlay man, Clark J. Ellinwood, 23. His automobile figured in a collision with a tractor-trailer truck just north of Van Buren, near the Wood County line.

George Woodworth, 43, of Saylor Park, a Cincinnati suburb, was killed late Friday night near that town as an automobile in which he was riding went out of control on a curve and hit an embankment. Donald Soudrette, 36, driver of the car, suffered arm and head injuries.

Security Council Action Seen on Laos' Appeal

SEATO Diplomats Say Conflict Is Within Their Realm

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld hurried home from South America today to deal with Laos' appeal for a U.N. task force to stop any aggression from Communist North Viet Nam.

Diplomats expected the 11-nation Security Council to be called into an emergency session Monday but predicted the Soviet Union would veto any U.N. intervention into the fighting in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

In the event of a Soviet veto in the Council any seven members of the Council can call an emergency session of the 82-nation General Assembly within 24 hours.

The feeling is that the Assembly would approve help to the hard-pressed Buddhist kingdom.

Diplomats representing the anti-Communist Southeast Asia Treaty Organization met in Washington Friday night. A statement issued afterward emphasized that Laos is "within the region of direct interest of SEATO."

Laos is not a member of SEATO but the anti-Communist organization regards Laos as under its protection.

It was understood that there was no substantial discussion of intervention by SEATO while the Laos appeal rests before the U.N.

Q — I was told by the salesman for a water softener recently (after I told him we were not interested) that the use of soft water for drinking prevented gallstones and kidney stones. Is this true?

Q — Please say something about falling hair and dry scalp in a middle-aged woman. Can this be cured?

A — This combination of dry scalp and falling hair is exceedingly common. It can reflect local disturbance in the scalp or general physical conditions, or both. Consequently, advice on the care of the scalp, perhaps from a skin specialist, and general examination to determine whether there is any adverse major physical condition should be attempted.

Chief Issues Tips On Handling Prowlers

Do you know what to do when you hear a prowler outside? If you don't Police Chief Martin Lutsch offers the following advice.

"Don't let the prowler know you know he's around," the chief says. "Call the police at the first available opportunity. That's rule No. 2," the chief explains. He asks that residents refrain from doing anything to frighten the prowler away.

"Most people yell at the prowler and then call the police. By the time we get there, the guy is in the next county," the chief says.

One of the worst things a person can do is go hunting for the prowler with a gun. Prowling is just a misdemeanor, the chief explains. It wouldn't be a justifiable shooting and the house owner would find himself in a lot of trouble, the chief asserts. He said a prowler is only trespassing and there is only a minor fine for that offense.

The Folks Behind The Church...

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

One Thing Led to Another

In the numerous reviews of the first days of World War II, beginning with Hitler's order to invade Poland on Sept. 1, 1939, one important fact of the war's beginning has been neglected.

There was no spontaneous combustion, as it must have seemed to be later. There was a slow buildup of hatred, tension and commitments that could not be shrugged off. The war gained momentum slowly.

It was to seem plausible for a long time that the Wild Man Hitler could be tamed as soon as he had taken out one more grudge or proved one more point in his campaign to restore Germany to its one-time military glory.

Even the mechanization of the German army, which later was to be the means of bowing over the French and British armies like tenpins, was regarded as more of a novelty than a definitive factor in the world's balance of power.

What followed the digestion of helpless Poland by the marauders of 1939 was the winter of 1939-40 when hordes of men stood under arms awaiting for something to happen that no one really believed would be allowed to happen.

Even the hard-headed British, who had evacuated children from London in case of the dreaded gas attack which was World War II's looming menace, instead of today's thermonuclear holocaust, did not really believe Hitler would run berserk. Nor did Hitler, himself, believe it, or the stiff-necked professional militarists who stood ready to do his insane bidding in the name of the Prussian legend that bound them to carry out the military orders of the maddest of the 20th century's mad men. They hoped for something to save them from nihilism.

In the spring of the following year, madness broke loose.

The Stukas screamed. The bombs crumpled. The machineguns stuttered. The mechanization paid off—and the mad man was on top. The sane men clenched their teeth. There was nothing in sight to stop the insanity that Hitler had conceived and his compliant militarists were eager to execute, except sanity and sacrifice.

Yet, even in 1940, this did not dawn on everybody—only the foresighted. The German attack on Russia did not come until June 1941. The Japanese attack on the United States did not come until December 1941. And only then, more than two years after the beginning of World War II, did Americans know for sure they could not evade the consequences of letting a madman get the upper hand in Europe.

Some Call It 'Public Relations'

Union officials who had been counting on this session of Congress to jump through hoops are said to be in a state of dark anger over its spotty performance.

Any degree of labor reform, no matter how slight, will be a setback for unionism's high hopes of a political triumph. On paper, there were enough Democratic votes to guarantee a triumph. What went wrong?

Some call it "public relations." Others might speak of it as the "image" existing in the public mind. Or perhaps it had better be referred to as "popular opinion." Between the time when the union leaders were most optimistic and the moment of their despair, something happened.

Congress responded to what the public was thinking and saying.

Twenty-five years ago, it responded to an adverse opinion of business enterprise. There had been a crashing collapse of confidence in business leadership. There was about to be a series of investigations that would put business enterprise on the defensive for the misdeeds of some of its members.

Some of the same people who now deplore the way the sins of the worst offenders are pinned on unionism in general were more than willing in the '30s to blast all business enterprise for a few misdeeds that had been brought out by Congressional investigators. It was a question then whether business enterprise ever would undo the damage inflicted on it by the blasters, led and inspired by the occupant of the White House with colorful phrases like "malefactors of great wealth," "Tories," "Bourbons" and "unreconstructed rebels," if his targets happened to be Southerners.

Business was advised by its friends to create a new "image" of itself for the public—to put more money and effort into its public relations—to put its best foot forward.

Unionists who wonder why Congress is disposed to look askance at their demands in 1959 would do well to learn how things were in 1933 and afterward when the public turned against some of the wild excesses of business power.

Labor unions needed to be careful, lest they be tempted to abuse the authority bestowed on them in the '30s when they were cleaning up on anti-business sentiment. They weren't as careful as they needed to be.

Instead of being in a state of anger against Congress, some of unionism's leaders should get into a state of honest analysis.

The time has come for them to worry about the "image" of unionism that has been created in the public mind—for them to do something about "public relations."

Old Joe T. Wins By One Vote!

If you had a pet project in the public works appropriation bill that failed by one vote to pass over President Eisenhower's veto, your grief can be mingled with joy. Joe Taxpayer won!

Whatever you stood to gain was peanuts compared with what you stood to lose. The bill called for $1,216,000,000. Your project would have accounted for only a few hundred thousands of millions of that stupendous total. But you would have helped to pay for all the rest.

Therefore, your loss—if you think you sustained one—is also your gain.

You have had an object lesson in the high cost of government and what can be done about it when a political figure who no longer has anything to lose dares to put a padlock on the people's cash drawer.

President Eisenhower never has had a veto overridden. The public works appropriation bill looked like a good bet to be his first setback in 144 trials of his prestige in the never-ending struggle for supremacy between the chief executive and Congress.

Here is the favorite bill of the pork-barrelers in public life. Here is the source of the odds-and-ends spending that ties up all the loose ends of favoritism, back-scratching and log-rolling. Here is the decompression chamber that legislators enter to take pressure off themselves when their constituents demand expensive action immediately, or else.

The public works appropriation bill is the essence of the spend-and-elect formula in partisan politics. It takes a high degree of courage for any president of the United States to hold up such a bill, and President Eisenhower had the courage. He also had the padlock—his presidential veto.

He put budget-balancing first and spending second.

He saw a chance to save nearly a billion and a quarter dollars of the people's money.

Politicians in Congress and back home in the states and Congressional districts will be furious. President Eisenhower can afford to be complacent. Taxpayers are happy, and it has occurred to a public figure here and there that taxpayers outnumber politicians in the United States at least a thousand to one.

Once Over

It's a rich man these days who can get a haircut and shave without first asking for estimates. In fact a thrifty man should put his haircutting job out for bids before entering a barbershop. It's a big deal.

Haircut prices have reached such heights that an inquiry is asked by the New York attorney general, with similar action in other cities. Barbers get so much to cut your hair that customers are asking for a "trade-in allowance" on their old hair.

The $1.50 and $1.75 price is no novelty. It should be one of the luxuries covered by credit card and time payments.

FOR GENERATIONS man got a haircut for a quarter. For the last two decades it's been going up by leaps and bounds. And the trouble is that some barbers don't give you as expert an opinion on baseball for $1.75 as they used to dish out for 50 cents.

Old timers say that for a quarter they got much more neighborhood gossip and better market advice. The red and white pole has become a symbol of luxury services.

A man used to clip two horses and three sheep for what it now costs to get a haircut.

The wife asked us, "Why don't you get a haircut?" and our answer was, "Do you want people to think I married for money, hit oil or discovered uranium?"

The haircut has become a commodity, a factor in American economy and a subject for discussion in "Wall Street Journal."

You save nothing through a bald head. A man with half a dozen hairs is socked as much as a Paderewski. This is the same as charging as much for coloring an Easter egg as for painting a home.

The New York attorney general thinks there may be a violation of the anti-monopoly law through price fixing. An Anti Monopoly Bureau official is probing, too. He says barbers are co-operating and have promised to keep haircut costs down. Wanna bet?

RIN TIN TIN has reportedly switched from the evening to an afternoon TV. Should a pooch take this without an appeal to the SPA?

Lassie is to go in for a series with human guest stars. This could provide genuine instances of the man-bites-dog routine.

How about Nikita's visit "The Ice Man cometh"?

The current American League cry is "Don't break up the Yanks."

Yale geologists, experimenting through skin-diving, have found beach erosion projects a big waste of money as currently done. Beach fillings are going on everywhere at vast expense but Yale experts say dredgers and pumps pour in sand in such a way that it is washed away in a few seasons.

Hollywood is asking for it. Despite the Protestant church movement (co-operative with Catholic Legion of Decency) to elevate standards of decency, the movie world is at work on more gangster biographies and has signed up a man who claims to be America's No. 1 impostor. This fellow admits to a life of fakery which included posing as a surgeon and operating on wounded and sick servicemen. Hollywood considers him a proper subject for screen glorification!!!

Nothing Personal, You Understand

The Democrats' Shepherd

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn is the shepherd of the House Democrats. But every once in a while President Eisenhower gets his goat.

Seven times this year—144 times since taking office in 1953—Eisenhower has used his veto to kill a measure passed by Congress. Never yet has Rayburn been able to round up enough votes to override him.

He tried twice this year and failed. This must be galling to the 77-year-old Texan who has the greatest Democratic flock since early New Deal days. It's the strays who ruin him.

Most of the strays on vetoes have been Southern Democrats. Passing a bill needs only a simple majority vote of House and Senate. But passing a bill into law over a presidential veto requires approval of two-thirds of those present at voting time in both houses.

In the Senate there are 100 members—65 Democrats, 35 Republicans—and a full two-thirds would be 67; in the House there are now 436 members—234 Democrats, 152 Republicans—and a full two-thirds would be 291.

Thus, despite their huge numbers, the Democrats would lack a two-thirds vote on any veto—a handful—even if the full membership of both parties was voting.

And they couldn't get the two-thirds unless the Democrats voted solidly together and a few Republicans joined them. But the full membership of the two parties almost never votes at any one time.

And Democrats almost never vote solidly. So, when less than the full membership is voting on overriding a veto, the outcome is tight and ticklish, particularly if some Democrats wander over to the Republican side.

And that's what happens.

For example, this year Congress passed a $1,216,000,000 flood control bill to pay for reclamation and other water projects all over the United States. This kind of something-for-the-folks-at-home bill is called a "pork barrel."

Eisenhower vetoed it Aug. 28. He thought there was too much pork. In Congress the cries of rage sounded like cries of pain. Rayburn led the march to override the veto. The vote came Wednesday.

The total vote was 412, of which two-thirds would have been 275. But the vote was 274 for overriding (one short of the needed 275) to 138 for upholding Eisenhower's veto.

Eleven Republicans teamed up with 263 Democrats against the President. But six Democrats joined 132 Republicans in backing him up. If one of the six Democrats had voted with his party, Eisenhower would have lost. Five of the six were Southern Democrats.

Earlier this year Eisenhower vetoed a bill which would have stripped Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson of authority to refuse loans by the Rural Electrification Administration.

Rayburn's House Democrats failed by four votes to override that one. Four Democrats strayed.

On this REA bill the Senate did vote to override—64 to 29—with two more votes than were needed to make up the two-thirds (62) of the total 93 votes cast. Sen. Frank J. Lausche was the only Democrat against overriding.

The Senate tried but failed to override Eisenhower's veto last July of the $1,375,000,000 housing bill. Rayburn's protégé and fellow Texan, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Senate majority leader, reportedly wasn't keen for trying on this one because he could foresee the result. The vote was nine short of the needed two-thirds. Ten Democrats were on Eisenhower's side.

Rougher Near Top

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Gov. Rockefeller Faces Tough Assignment

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller is finding that the going becomes more perilous as the summit nears.

This was the experience of the many Everest expeditions until the infinitely well-trained Edmund Hillary and Tensing Norkay made the grade.

Mallory and Irvine in the 1920's were last seen near the summit. The Rutledge expedition failed above 27,000 feet. The Italians almost made it later but also failed in the final test.

In a national politician's career there come moments when advisers are divided and he must make the ultimate, bleak choice.

At that moment only his experience and his capacity to weigh the many factors involved must be depended upon.

In 1948 Gov. Dewey, after scuffing the carpets in his suite at the Roosevelt Hotel in New York with interminable pacing, decided to contest the Wisconsin primary on Stassen's home ground.

IT WAS A DISASTER which then compelled him to cast his all in Oregon, where only brute endurance for two weeks and the silly decision of Stassen to challenge the best debater in public life to a personal encounter prevailed. Later in the campaign the immature confidence of his brain trust in polls lost him the presidency.

In the 1952 Republican convention, Sen. Taft foolishly permitted his managers to demand an unreasonable number of the Texas delegates and thus, with a bad case, provoked a test of convention strength.

In 1952, Richard Nixon, after the sensational revelation of the California Nixon fund, was advised by the same Gov. Dewey that the great majority of the wisecracks in headquarters favored his getting off the ticket.

Nixon chose to carry his case to the people on television. It was homespun stuff, the cynics said but the acute and experienced Nixon knew there were millions of homespun Americans. The result we all know.

Nothing but Franklin D. Roosevelt's incomparable knowledge of politics and the country succeeded when advisers failed. In 1952 the superstitions of his political advisers all went against a trip into California. The disaster that befell Hughes out there in 1916 loomed large.

There were new complications which intensified the pressure to avoid the Golden State. Roosevelt calculated the risks and went. It was a triumph.

AFTER GOV. ROCKEFELLER clearly indicated, according to responsible reporters, that he intended to let the polls determine in November whether he would try for the presidential nomination, he found himself guilty of a grievous political error.

Then he compounded the error with another. He branded the report of his statements in Puerto Rico as "inaccurate."

This is a serious charge. Responsible reporters who filed their understanding of what the governor had said are not omniscient but their greatest pride is in truthfully reporting what they know and understand. To call them "inaccurate" is a vital blow.

The governor faces a tough assignment if he is to contest the nomination and a friendly, trustful press will be among the many assets indispensable to his progress.

It will hardly do to say that these mistakes can be remedied by the selection of better advisers for, as I have indicated above, advisers will disagree. Rockefeller alone must acquire, in an impossibly short time, the capacity to make his decisions. That capacity sometimes takes many years to acquire.

His advisers to date seem to be mostly scholarly people who provided him with a number of reports by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund before he entered politics.

These reports, with the very ample government spending which they advocated, will be another problem he must meet. For they represent about the only views on national affairs he had had.

It may appear before he is very deep in the race that he has already had an overdose of advice of a sort.

Too Hot or Too Cold

By THOMAS HENRY

With the practical possibilities of space travel being given serious consideration for the first time, astronomers are paying increasing attention to our near neighbors in space, the other planets in the solar system.

As far as the possibility of man being able to survive on even the best of them—Mars and Venus—their conclusions up to now are not encouraging. Venus is too hot and Mars too cold.

Drs. Carl C. Kiess and K. Lassovsky of Georgetown University, in a study made for the Air Force, report that the surface temperature of Venus, nearest planet to the earth and the closest to it in mass and surface gravity, though lower than previously believed, is probably near the boiling point of water.

Furthermore, the Venusian atmosphere may contain 10,000 times as much carbon dioxide as our own, probably is without oxygen and has little or no water vapor. The Georgetown scientists conclude that, while with planetary evolution, life may develop on Venus, there is small likelihood that there is any there now.

SIMILARLY, they now believe that color changes long observed on the surface of Mars, may not be due to seasonal changes in vegetation, as long thought but by the shifting patterns of wind-blown volcanic ash. The Martian "canals," they say, may be due to similar causes.

Manila, the chief city of the Philippine Islands, was founded in 1571 by the Spaniard, Miguel Lopez de Legazpi. The small early settlement which started as a fort soon became a center of oriental trade. Except for a brief period (1762-64) of British occupancy, the city was in Spanish hands from its founding to 1898 when the Spanish surrendered the Philippines to the U.S. Manila was the islands capital until 1948 when a suburb, Quezon City, was made the official capital.

Francona's Error Gives Chicago 3-2 Win Over Cleveland

Baxes Blasts Homer No. 15

Wynn Gains 18th Win This Season

CHICAGO (AP) — Cleveland's Joe Gordon and Chicago's Al Lopez say the American League race isn't over, but they say it so softly.

Gordon, dejected skipper of the second-place Indians, slumped into a chair in front of his locker Friday night after the league-leading White Sox had whipped his men 3-2 and left them 6½ games chance," he murmured.

"If we can win the other two games here, we can get back in the race," Gordon reasoned.

That's a lot of games, the way Chicago has been flogging Cleveland, 14 times in 19 games.

What has been the difference between the two teams? The breaks, says Gordon.

"We're as good a ballclub as they are," he declared. "But we've made too many mechanical errors. We've given them three games on errors."

And Friday night an error by center fielder Tito Francona led in the winning White Sox run.

Lopez, refused to count the Indians out of contention but conceded, "Yes, the first game of the series is always a big one. But today's is a big game, and so's the one tomorrow."

"We do seem to get the breaks against Cleveland. I remember from when I managed Cleveland that Chicago always gave the Indians trouble."

"I don't tell the players anything special when we play the Indians. The inspiration comes from within each of them."

The White Sox scored their first two runs Friday night on singles by Billy Goodman, Al Smith, Jim McNamany and Luis Aparicio in the second inning.

What proved to be the winning run came in the eighth. Ted Kluszewski led off with a single and Earl Torgeson was sent into run for him. Sherm Lollar then singled to center and Torgeson raced around to third. Tito Francona came in to field the ball, but it hopped past him and Torgeson scored.

Early Wynn allowed but one run—Jim Baxes' 15th homer in the fifth inning—in posting his 18th victory of the season and the 267th of his major league career. Jim Perry was the loser, giving him a 10-7 record for the season.

The Indians got their last run in the ninth inning off reliever Gerry Staley. Rocky Colavito led off with a double to left field and took third while Staley was winding up. He scored on a single to left by George Strickland.

Cal McLish will pitch for the Indians in the second game of the series today, seeking his 17th victory. He has lost seven. He will be opposed by Bob Shaw (14-5).

Injuries Rend Goshen Squad

Bruce Seeman Hurt In Practice Friday

Injuries is the top topic of conversation in the football camp of the Goshen Gophers.

Rare is the man on Coach Ralph Zurbrugg's squad who has not come up with more than the usual football bumps and bruises. The problem has reached the stage where the coach fears that players have the thought of being injured so much on their minds that some might unconsciously be adding to their plight by letting up in practice to avoid getting hurt.

Possibly one of the most serious injuries was suffered last yesterday in practice when one of the younger prospects, Bruce Seeman, received a possible broken leg. He is in the Salem Central Clinic where the seriousness of his injury was to be determined today.

Chuck Wilson, the Gophers' top quarterback prospect, reported to practice with a shoulder injury suffered during the summer while playing baseball. Coach Zurbrugg wants to make reasonably sure that the injury is completely healed before allowing the boy to do any throwing or heavy contact work.

Wilson will try his shoulder out by throwing a few passes next week for the first time this season. If the green light is given, Zurbrugg believes Wilson will be ready to go when the Gophers open their regular season Sept. 18 at Lisbon against the Blue Devils.

Goshen will play its first home game the following week, Sept. 26, against Greenford. All of the Gophers' home games will be played at Sebring.

Chicago Tops Front-Running Giants 2-1

By The Associated Press
Yes, sir, boy, that's a real hot race for the National League pennant. The top three clubs over-all have lost three more games than they've won in the past two weeks of the stretch drive.

Pittsburgh's caught the fever, too. After muzzling into the race, the fourth-place Bucs now have lost three straight.

The San Francisco Giants have managed to lose seven of their last 11 games. Yet they still lead by two.

Second-place Los Angeles is the only winner among the top three over the past two weeks. And the Dodgers are only 5-3 for that span.

Milwaukee's third-place Braves, in pursuit of their third straight flag, have lost six of their last 10. The Giants blew a half-game of their lead over idle Los Angeles Friday night, losing 2-1 to the Chicago Cubs on a pair of unearned runs. Milwaukee cut its latest losing skid at three, beating Cincinnati 4-1 as Warren Spahn won his 18th. The Bucs were blanked 3-0 on six hits by Philadelphia's Jim Owens.

The Giants, hobbled by infield injuries, kissed this one good-bye when Jackie Brandt, an outfielder playing third base, booted two balls in the fifth inning and Al Dark followed with a two-run double. Jack Sanford (12-12) lost it.

The "Go-Go" White Sox? Call them the Go-Go-Get 'em White Sox. Better yet, call 'em champs.

Eight days ago, Chicago's weary Sox appeared on the brink of a battering as they moved into Cleveland for a four-game series. It touched off a showdown schedule of seven games in 10 days with the power-swinging, second-place Indians.

The White Sox, their pitching worn thin, had dropped four of their last 10 games and their American League lead was down to 1½ games.

The Indians? They'd won eight straight.

Now, with five games gone in the showdown, the White Sox have won five, extending their lead to a virtual lock-up 6½ games Friday night with a 3-2 victory in the opener of a last-stand, three-game series for the Indians in Chicago.

In the scramble for third place, Detroit tied New York by beating Kansas City 9-2 behind Don Mossi's six-hitter while the Yankees lost 3-0 to Baltimore, blanked on six singles by Milt Pappas.

Washington eliminated last weekend, defeated Boston 4-3 and officially knocked the Red Sox out of the race. Kansas City also dropped out.

In the National League, Chicago's Cubs beat San Francisco 2-1 and trimmed the Giants' lead over idle Los Angeles to two games. Third place Milwaukee, 3½ behind, defeated Cincinnati 4-1. Pittsburgh remained within ½ game of first although Philadelphia handed the Bucs a third straight loss, 3-1.

The White Sox, now 31-9 in one-run decisions nailed the Indians with an eighth-inning run off Jim Perry (10-7). Earl Torgeson, running for Ted Kluszewski, who singled, barreled home from first for a 3-1 lead when center fielder Tito Francona bobbled Sherm Lollar's single.

Wynn, 39, now No. 16 on the all-time list of winners with 267, gave up five hits, one Jim Baxes' 15th homer, walked three and struck out five in his eight innings while beating the Indians for the ninth time in 10 decisions since they traded him to the Sox two years ago. Gerry Staley pitched the ninth, giving up a run.

Tennis Event Finals Set Over Weekend

Finals of the Columbiana County Tennis Tournament will be played during Labor Day weekend, tournament director Dick Strain said today. Participants are down to the quarter finals today.

Schedule of play for the doubles honors is:

Jerry Hochadel-Gordon Scott play Tom Moore-F. Mullins. Winners plays John Dawson-Wayne Harris. In the second bracket, Ralph Martin-Lloyd Gordon plays Dave and Dick Hunter. Victor of Martin-Hunter match plays George Baillie-Walter Deming. Winners of that contest will oppose Maurice Young-Dick Kapp vs. Pete Casper and "Bic" Mohr winner.

Then the winners of the two brackets will play for the title.

In singles competition, in the first bracket, the winner of the Wayne Harris - Jerry Hochadel match plays Ralph Martin. This winner plays the victor of the Maurice Young-Dick Kapp game.

In the second bracket, John Dawson meets Bob Trombold and Gordon Scott plays Pete Casper. Winner advances to finals against first bracket winner, Strain explained.

Snake Bites Griddler

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Fullback Gil Dowd reached for a pigskin but came up with a snake-skin Friday and howled "I've been bitten by a rattler."

The 205-pound junior was rushed off the Stanford practice field but doctors said the snake, about a foot long, was not poisonous. They put a bandage on Dowd's hand and he returned to practice.

Goshen AC, Heck's Lose Games

Scott's Candy Is Eliminated From Invitational Tourney

Scott's Candy became the fourth team, the third from Salem, to be eliminated from the Invitational Softball Tournament last night as it dropped a 5-2 decision to Lisbon Ruth & Bob at Kelley Park.

In other games Goshen AC was held to one hit by Wayne Nelson of Massillon Dolph's Tavern and bowed 7-0, and Columbiana Heck's Restaurant went 11 innings only to be edged out 4-3 by Youngstown Carter AC.

Lisbon scored three times in the opening inning against Scott's and preserved that margin of victory. Lisbon scored on singles by Dick Andric and Hal King, an error and a walk. Jim Weizenecker got one of the runs back for Scott's in the fifth with a home run over the left field fence.

Both winning hurler Joe Murphy and loser L. B. Fletcher fanned nine in going the route. Lisbon collected five hits and Salem four.

SCOTT'S, WHOSE team was composed of players from the Beilto Merchants club which two nights ago won the Salem Class AA playoff title, joined Salona Supply, Deming's and Canfield A & S Gulf as the clubs already ousted from the double elimination tourney.

Red Mele's 11th inning single brought home Ken Carter, who had reached second on first baseman Bowser DeJane's two base error, to give Youngstown its win over Columbiana. The game was tied at 2-2 after the regulation seven innings. Each team scored a run in the ninth.

Besides scoring the winning run for Youngstown, Carter accounted for three of his team's 10 hits. Pitcher Satch Altomare connected for three of Columbiana's seven hits. Each team stranded nine men on the bases.

NELSON FANNED 14 batters en route to his one-hit victory over Goshen. Massillon picked up all seven of its runs in the first three innings. The last three markers all came across when Goshen center fielder Bill Heasley dropped a fly ball with the bases loaded.

Larry Caley and Dick Ferguson each had two hits for Massillon. Heasley was responsible for the only single off Nelson.

Twenty-one games are scheduled in the tourney over Labor Day weekend. Four games are on tap for tonight, eight Sunday and nine Monday. The Labor Day games will start at 11:45 a.m., tournament director Dave Briskin reports.

WHAT STACKS UP to be the number one contest in the tournament to date will take place tonight at 7 when Salem Lincoln Machine collides with Akron Reds Bar.

On the mounds opposing each other will be Bill Herman who has tossed two consecutive tournament one-hit shutouts for Salem, and fireballing lefthander Rip Fugate who struck out 13 batters in the five and 1-3 innings he walked his last time out.

Both teams stand 2 and 0 in the tournament. Akron was the top seeded club and Lincoln Machine is the number one Salem entry.

Bulldozer Snaps Telephone Cable

Bell Telephone Co. splicing crews finished repairs to a severed underground cable which interrupted about 300 circuits including toll lines between Salem and Youngstown about 7 a.m. today.

The cable was snapped about 4 p.m. Friday near the top of Albany Hill on Rt. 62 by a bulldozer that was cutting part of a bank away.

Telephone company officials said today the mishap could have been avoided if the party making the driveway would have contacted the company and asked for a man to be sent out to check the depth of the cable. The company said it provides this service free of charge.

Five hours after the break in the cable, 10 per cent of the circuits had been repaired, Raymond Stiver, plant chief said. Toll calls were not affected since the operators routed the calls to Youngstown through Cleveland. Both Youngstown and Salem repaired work on the break.

Police recovered one stolen vehicle yesterday but are now looking for a car which was stolen between 8 and 11 p.m. Friday night.

Recovered was the truck stolen from the S & H Wholesale Co. at 450 W. Pershing St. early this month. The truck-thieves had taken the vehicle Aug. 6 to haul away approximately $5,000 worth of cigarettes.

Police Chief Martin Lutsch said he learned yesterday the truck had been found abandoned on a Cleveland street some time ago. No trace of the cartons of cigarettes was found.

Stolen Friday night was a car operated by Gary Gotthardt of 40 Lisbon St., Leetonia. It was taken from the First National Bank parking lot while the youth attended a movie.
